

THE LIMA TIMES-DEMOCRAT.

CABLE AND TELEGRAPH REPORT OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, RECEIVED OVER LEADED WIRE.

JUNE TWENTY. NUMBER 200.

LIMA, OHIO, THURSDAY, JUNE 2, 1904.

PRICE THREE CENTS.

VILLAGE SEARCHED.

ary Officials Will Seize All Arms Found in Hanging Rock.

Spared Church a Store House

ammunition and guns Secured by Non-union Workers. Meeting of Strikers Has been Called in Hope of Bringing About an Early Settlement.

Rock, O., June 2.—A crisis situation here will be soon. The soldiers will take charge of a union man and striker and to be a leader of the forces troops have been set here.
More drastic than this is an order contemplation to place of men under guard. It is to Major Corn today that the village were jeering the and attempting to incite men to burn the village and will seize all found in the hands of strikers or men, in the colored headquarters of the non-union men a large quantity of ammunition and several guns were found, all of which were taken in charge. A house to house search for weapons will be made.

Settlement in Sight.

Cincinnati, June 2.—A Times-Star special from Ironton, Ohio, says:
A meeting of the striking furnace workers has been called. The men will assemble at once and it is freely declared that a settlement will be made. Col. A. C. Thompson and Secretary Joseph Bishop of the state board of arbitration, are in conference with the strike leaders and representatives of the Hanging Rock Iron Company.

T MAY CONTAIN SOMEONE YOU LOVED.

of the Fruits of Assimilation, Knowledge Which Came Through Cable Reports
From Officers in Charge.

ton, June 2.—Major General [redacted]
the military secretary to [redacted] from General Wade, com-the division of the Philippable report of the recent at-American troops in Mi-the following is an extract dispatch:

Manila, June 2, 1904.
General Leonard Wood, 10-30th, from an expedition Guasanae. The remains of men killed in action May brought to Cortabato and in-the outfit, a small aggregalaws are now in hiding and sured until captured or des-to disturbance whatever in Cottabato Valley. No casualties in expedition. Following is a complete list of casualties among enlisted men May 8th.

Killed. George Wachter, Ewing
Quillen, Benj B Noble, Elbert Brown,
Martin Elmer, Amos J. Gilham, Owen
Hughes, Wm. Lutgens, Jno. O'Conor, Leonard C Smith, Wm. A. Wal-
Chas. Cole, Frank G. Meredith, not named having been transferred from Company E, 17th infantry.

Wounded. Thos H. Breckett, Geo.
R. Humphreys, Henry D. Shaddean,
Jno. L. Barnhouse, Francis M. Davis,
John F. Delonge. All wounded doing well. These men belonged to Co. F, 17th infantry."

ATIONAL DROP IN COTTON MARKET.

ork, June 2.—There was a break in July cotton to change for the better in conditions recently, and the light spot demand in conwith the persistent hammering ers seemed to have demoralized and since the market open-Tuesday, there has been a and increasingly heavy out-cotton. On last Friday, at 12.50; it reached 11.50 morning, a decline for a two business days of 125

points, or 1 1/4 cents a pound. July opened at 11.50; sold to 11.85 on the call and then broke three or four points a clip until it reached 11.55.
Following this, offerings subsided somewhat, and the bears started covering, causing a slight rally, but the undertone of the market remained very nervous and excited.

At midday the market was steady to firm, net 20 points lower on old crop and unchanged to 3 points higher on new.

Sixty cotton quiet; middling gulf
12.50.

Cecil, Louis Dyer, General Hutchinson,
W. D. Howells, Robert P. Porter,
W. J. Pierie, G. T. Williams, Rudolph Speckles and Jas. D. P. Helan, of San Francisco. Over a hundred in all were present.

The speeches were few and brief,
but overflowing with the most cordial sentiments of good will for both countries. Mr. Bryce, after proposing the health of King Edward and encouraging what the king had accomplished between the European powers, proposed the health of President Roosevelt, as the greatest man, who had occupied the presidential chair since Washington.

Mr. Lowe dealt on the importance of the two countries knowing each other better, the good results which followed the pilgrim labors in this derection and the importance of both countries cherishing and cementing those relations which now existed.
There were no other speeches.

WE ENTERTAINED.

June 2.—The Pilgrims Club and former Mayor Seth Lowe, work, at luncheon, at the Sav-today. James Bryce presid-these present were Am-Choate, Consul General
lair Beacon, Lord Eastac-

HORSMAN GOES ABROAD.

New York, June 2.—Right Rev.
Ignatius F. Horstmann, Roman Catholic bishop of Cleveland, sailed today Europe on the steamer LaTour aine.

NEWSPAPER ARCHIVE®

KANSAS TORNADO. BODY Found in a Marshy Spot

Along a Creek

Causes Detectives to Believe That a

Foul Murder Was Committed in One of the Nearby Boat Houses.

Indications Are That Victim Was Killed and Then Burned at Stake in Order to Destroy Evidence of Crime.

SEVEN HURT BY EXPLOSION.

Steam Chest in a Rubber Factory Lets Go With Injury to Many.

Akron, O., June 2.—Through the explosion of a steam chest at the plant of the B. F. Goodrich company this morning, seven people were seriously scalded and otherwise hurt. The injured are: May Yost, Rose Lehr, Sadie Roach, C. D. Keyes, Robert Dormerth, Roy Ansley and Ira Llewellyn. The door of the chest, weighing about a ton, was blown off, and it struck a pillar which helped support the floor above. A portion of the floor, about 40 feet square, was let down and the employees on the upper floor fell with it. They were scalded by the escaping steam, but none of them were fatally hurt.

ALL FOR THIRTY CENTS.

New York, June 2.—Recorder Goff has sentenced John Crane and Arthur Nagle to nine years and six months in prison, for stealing thirty cents. The men are ex-convicts, it is said, and were found guilty of holding up a woman in 33rd street. The fact that her purse, which they snatched, was almost empty did not lessen their crime in the eyes of the court.

NEW YORK IS STUCK IN OHIO.

Steamer Goes Aground on South Shore of Middle Bass Island.
Passengers Transferred.

Cleveland, June 2.—The steamer
State of New York with 10 passengers on board, went ashore late last night, during a dense fog, on the south shore of Middle Bass Island. The steamer was enroute from Toledo to Cleveland.
Later the passengers were taken off by the steamer Arrow, which conveyed them to Sandusky. From the latter point the passengers came on to Cleveland by rail. The State of New York, it is thought, can be pulled off without much trouble and two tugs have been sent to her assistance.

TIRED OF LIVING.

Cleveland, June 2.—August Schmitt, a prominent florist, of Glenville, a suburb, 63 years old, while lying in bed last night, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head. The flash from the revolver set the bed clothing on fire and when Schmitt's family returned home late at night, the building was in flames. The fire was extinguished with much difficulty.
Schmitt had suffered from poor health and this is supposed to have been the cause for the suicide.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Is In Hands of Grand Jury and Suspicion Points to a Bedford Citizen.

DAMAGED DONE CANAL SYSTEM

By Yesterday's Heavy Rain Will Reach Three or Four Thousand Dollars.

Akron, O., June 2.—Chas. Hatch, superintendent of the northern division of the Ohio and Erie Canal, said today that the damage done to the canal yesterday afternoon by the high water will make it impossible to open up navigation for at least a month or probably two months.

I cannot say what will become of the canal if we have a few more storms such as we had yesterday.

said he

The damage to the canal by yesterday's storm will amount to, from $1,000 to $5,000.

WAR AMONG THEMSELVES.

Springfield, O., June 2.—Another lynching was attempted here last night. A crowd of negroes surrounded the jail at midnight to lynch Walter Fisher, colored, under arrest for killing Edward Boone, also colored.
Sheriff Routhahn had just returned from Dayton, where he took Fisher for safe-keeping, and so advised the crowd, which yelled back that they would get Fisher when he was brought back for trial.

ST. LOUIS STORM VISITED.

St. Louis, June 2.—Reports coming in from various stations of the city show considerable and widespread damage from a thunder storm that raged today. Many buildings were struck by lightning and partially burned.

GAME POSTPONED.

Philadelphia, June 2.—Chicago-Philadelphia game postponed on account of rain.

WHOLE FORCE TO TAKE REST.

McCormicks Will Leave St. Petersburg for Carlsbad, to Remain There One Month.

St. Petersburg, June 2.—Spencer F.
Eddy, secretary of the United States embassy here, has gone to Paris on a three weeks visit to his mother, who recently recovered from a severe illness. Shortly after his return, if the conditions permit, Ambassador McCormick and Mrs. McCormick will go to Carlsbad for a month's sojourn.

Detective Berry of Delaware county does not believe the man was murdered where the body was found, but is of the opinion that he met death in one of the boat houses during quarrel and that the body was then carried into the marsh. It is evident that an attempt had been made to destroy all evidences of identification by burning the body of the murdered man.

Within a few hundred yards of the spot where the body was found, is the farm house of Wm. Horne. On the night of Sunday, May 22nd, a rope and two pieces of chain were stolen from Horne's barn. This chain was found close to the body of the murdered man.
It had been fastened to fence posts
by staples and after close investigation, the detectives arrived at the conclusion that the man had become involved in a quarrel over a game of cards in one of the boat houses and had been murdered; that his body was chained to the posts, saturated with oil and then set on fire. A two gallon oil can, comparatively new and which had been stolen from the Horne residence, was lying close to the charred trunk, which would seem to bear out this theory. Two suspender buckles, half of a hand, and the toe of a shoe are the only means from which the detectives can hope to identify the murdered man. A report was current last night that the body of a woman had been found close to where the man's body was discovered, but the detectives have thus far been unable to locate the persons who it is claimed made the discovery.

BULLETIN.

Minneapolis, June 2.—Two military prisoners at Fort Snelling this morning made an attempt to escape, and one of them, a military convict, named Wisch, was shot dead by Private Kennedy. Private Reilly, who managed to get away was retaken later.

The dead man's name was Tony C.

Wisch. He with Private Reilly had escaped in the sentinels while at work and had crossed on the bridge leading to St. Paul. Reilly was retaken and led the way to a saloon where Wisch was found. The party started back across the bridge to the fort and when in the center, the prisoners tried to throw Kennedy over the rail into the river below. Kennedy thereupon shot

Wisch, who lived only two minutes.

CORP PROSPECTS HURT.

Sioux City, Iowa, June 2.—The crop prospects of North Western Iowa and especially of the Mississippi valley have been injured by a rain of nearly two inches. Thousands of acres in the Missouri bottoms are submerged and probably cannot be utilized for the third successive year. Early corn looks yellow and sickly, owing to the rains and cold weather.

AMERICA HAS THREE VESSELS

Off Coast of Revolutionary San Domingo, Ready to Protect Interests of This Country.

Washington, June 2.—United States

Minister Powell today cabled the state department from Port Au Prince that the British cruiser Indefatigable of the West Indian squadron, has arrived there. Its presence is attributed to the existing revolutionary troubles in that section. The commander of the gunboat Bancroft has advised the navy department by cable of his sailing from Guantanamo for Santo Domingo. With the arrival of this vessel there will be three United States war ships in Dominican waters,

the Detroit, Newport and Bancroft with Commander Dillingham as the superior officer.

The "Salted" Mine

"What are you doing, John?"
The question was asked in a mining camp in the far West. A man had dumped several bags of ore on the kitchen floor and was mixing them in one heap.

"Halt, Molly. Don't be asking too many questions."
"But I want to know."
"Well, then, I'm preparing to make Molly Drake rich woman. There's a fellow come out from New York hunting for property with which to organize a big mining company. He's been looking at our ten acres on Cobble hill. I've told him I've struck the rich vein of the Sally Ann mine in the middle of our property."

"Well?"
"I'm preparing to make sure he's not disappointed."

"John Drake, do you mean to tell me you're going to 'salt' the property?"
"Salt it? Don't you know that this is a world in which the abred ones live on the fools? What does he want the property for? To make a halo of it. To do this he must have something to show. If I don't give him rich ore I'll go to the next man, who will; and I'll be left in the lurch. He don't want to know too much. It would spoil his plans. There he comes now."

Leaving the kitchen he shut the door. The stranger came on. As he did so Molly Drake fixed her eyes upon him in wonder. The color left her cheek, and she bit her lip to restore her equanimity. As the man approached her, she started, but the woman cast a meaning glance toward her husband and put her finger to her lips. When the newcomer and the woman met they were introduced by the husband as strangers.

"Molly, this is Mr. Sydney, a gentle man from New York looking for mining property."

Mr. Sydney and Mrs. Drake nodded to each other, and Drake, evidently fearing that the purchaser might get a look into the kitchen, soon took him away, but not before Sydney and Mrs. Drake had managed to make an appointment to meet that evening in the wood back of the cabin.

As soon as dark came John Drake harnessed a horse to a cart and, taking the salted ore, drove away. He had scarcely gone when his wife went back into the wood. Sydney was waiting.

"Molly?"
"George!"

It was the old story of a lovers' misunderstanding. George Sydney had gone off thinking that Molly Parker had dismissed him, Molly thinking that he would come back. After a time John Drake, who had had the name of being a money maker and had accumulated some means, won and married her. Hearing of a gold strike on Wolf creek in the far west, he had taken his money and gone there to be on hand for a good investment.

Sydney began to speak of the cause of their estrangement.

"That's all past, George," interrupted the woman. "What are you doing here?"

"My father and certain friends of his have great confidence in the gold producing qualities of this place and have sent me to buy any property that looks well. When I fell in with John Drake I—" "Yes, yes. What are you going to do with this property if you buy it?"

"Worth it."
"Organize a company to boom the stock and sell out?"

"Molly?"
"Or get what there is in it for the purchasers?"

"If we buy a mine, I am to stay here and manage it."

She stood a moment thinking, then said, "Come with me."

Taking her to his cabin, she opened the kitchen door and with a candle held low showed him the dust left from the mixed ores.
"If you buy his property, that's the sample you will buy it on."

He looked at her in wonder. "Do you mean?"—he began.

"That John has gone to salt the hole where he claims he has struck the Sally Ann vein."

For a few moments Sydney continued to look at her as if some great mistake was being made. Then he exclaimed bitterly:

"Oh, Molly, why did you send me away?"

"Go. I have nothing more to tell you; no further warning."

"Go? And leave you here with a man you can't respect? Go? I will only go if you go with me."

"Neither the law of the land nor of God permits that, George. Go."

When John Drake drove the team up to his cabin at midnight and put it away he went into the house and found his wife awaiting him.

"John," she said, "you'll find the house in order and provisions for the rest of the week. I'm going back to my father."

The man started as if he had been struck.

"For heaven's sake, Molly, what do you mean?"

"I mean that I will not live with a dishonest man."

Something in the resolute tone of her voice told him that she was not to be dissuaded. He saw her pass away in the darkness and, going into the house, fell on his face. He had considered "salting" ore not as a criminal offense, but a shrewd operation.

Sydney made every effort to induce Mr. Drake to take some action with a view to their possible union, but she firmly refused. Ten years later her husband died and she married the man she should have married in the first place.

CHARLOTTE ATWOOD.

Almost anything will do for a political slogan when the prime object is to fool the voter.

YELLOWSTONE PARK.

One Meets With Nature's Surprises There at Every Turn.

Cooling Off.

The man who would sit on a cake of ice to cool off would be considered crazy. Yet it is a very common thing for a person to choose to stand in a cool draught just to cool off. This is the beginning of many a cough which ultimately invades the bronchial tract and the lungs.

The cough is say sage there is no remedy so valuable as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures deep-seated, obstinate coughs, bronchitis, blessing of the lungs, and like conditions which if neglected or unskillfully treated terminate in consumption.

There is no starch in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics. Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good."

"I took a severe cold which settled in the lungs and I wrote to Dr. Frank Hay of Newtonville, Jefferson Co., Kansas. After trying medicines labeled "Sore Cough," almost to desperation, I wrote to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and it is the best I ever used and have stayed cured."

"I think of the great pain I had to undergo to get rid of it, and it seems as though I could not have done it without the help of the doctor I wrote to."

"The God may spare you many years and abundantly bless you is the prayer of your friend."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing 100 large pages, is sent with the stamp to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 cent stamps for the book in paper covers or 31 stamps for it in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

SENTENCE SERMONS.

There is no merit in sacrifice devoid of service.

The heart's protest against death is the promise of life.

Your criticism of another is your verdict on yourself.

The great lives have all loved something greater than life.

Sin is always a greater wrong to the sinner than to any other.

Disappointment is not a sufficient reason for discouragement.

Holiness is the reaching after rather than the arriving at perfection.

There is more in being worthy of great place than there is winning it.

The man who is afraid of bringing up his wick need not hope to brighten the world.

When a man sets popularity before his eyes he is likely to let principle out of his heart.—Chicago Tribune.

The Seven Masses.

A thin, nervous looking man stepped up to the pastor as the latter came down from the pulpit.

"You have had a good deal to say this morning," he observed, "about a fellow that killed a man named Abel."

"Certainly," replied the pastor. "The Sin of Cain" was the subject of my discourse."

"I wish you'd do me the favor next Sunday," said the thin man, in some excitement, "to tell the folks that the man you were talking about this morning isn't relation to the Kane that keeps a livery stable down by the mill. I don't want none of my friends to think that I had a hand in that killing. That's all. Good day!"

A Fatal Pun.

An old English chronicler, in recording the abdication of King Henry VI of England in 1461, quaintly says that his reign had lasted upward of thirty-eight years without his having once become skillful at repartee, unless it is to think as quick as when the baby ing the crowd.

We hope we are not lacking in sympathy, but when they tell us that a fat woman is "delicate" we laugh.

After a man has been engaged three or four weeks he begins to find opportunities to take sides in her quarrels.

We don't know what it requires to become skillful at repartee, unless it is to think as quick as when the baby ing the crowd.

The Seven Masses.

Speaking of mysterious tastes, that of a man who was recently before the magistrate at Greenwich is not very easy of explanation. Three weeks ago a legacy of £120 was left to him. The first thing he bought, it seems, was a set of billiard balls, and he now has nothing else left to show for the £120, which has disappeared at the rate of £43 6s. 8d. weekly. Why billiard balls? It is a singular and rather interesting form of craving. It is perhaps true that a billiard ball is one of the very few perfect objects produced by man. It is all of a piece, it is thoroughly homogeneous as regards material, and it is, or should be, faultless in form. Yet only a strong strain of mysticism in the character would account for a man hungering and thirsting for billiard balls above all other earthly things.—London News.

Eyelets Sold by the Million.

"Eyelets," said a manufacturer, "are like needles, pins and matches, sold by the million instead of by the pound. I don't suppose anybody could tell how many million eyelets are sold every year in New York, but the number is prodigious. Eyelets are made for a variety of uses, from the huge white metal loops sewed into the corners of ship's sails to the tiny eyelets for the dainty slipper of a baby. The greatest number of eyelets made are, of course, for shoes. They are put up in boxes of 100,000, 250,000 and 500,000. Only those proportions are packed. They cost anywhere from $50 to $130 a million."—New York Times.

Overhead on the Pier.

"Is this all?" demanded the custom house inspector as he finished up Binks' trunks.

"Well, no," said Binks. "I got a new wife over in Paris. That little woman over there with the pink cheeks is she?"

"All right," said the inspector. "We'll have her appraised. She looks like a work of art!"—Life.

To Precious.

The Maiden Governess—What year is it called when February has twenty-nine days? Little Elsie—Leap year. The Maiden Governess—Correct. And how often does leap year come? (No answer) Why, Elsie, I'm surprised at your knowledge that Little Elsie—O, I haven't reached the age where I keep track of leap years!—Brooklyn Eagle.

Just Worrying.

"You appear ill at ease," said the young lady. "Are you ill?"

"No," answered the young man, "but you know how sensitive and nervous I am, and I'm in agony for fear that your little brother here will repeat some of the remarks you've made about me."—Indianapolis Sun.

Pretty Close to It.

"Now, what that phrase?" said the teacher. "Is an idiom. Does any little boy know what an idiom is?"

"Ferm!" piped little Tommy Skippa.

"That's what pa is when ma don't want him to have his own way and he does."—Philadelphia Press.

Exasperating Experiences.

"Two things make my wife awful mad."

"What are they?"

"To get ready for company that doesn't come and to have company come when she isn't ready."—Indianapolis Journal.

A Leading Question.

Parent—Has that man asked you to marry him, Julia? Daughter—Not in so many words, but it has amounted to that. Last night he asked me if my dad was as well off as they say he is.—Boston Transcript.

Blindness.

"I see Jennie Gayleigh is to undergo another operation."

"Dear me! Appendicitis again?"

"No. She's going to have her husband amputated."—Town Topics.

CASTORIA.

Be the Kind You Have Always Bought

Signature of Castor Fletcher

Learn how to listen and you will profit even from those who talk badly.

—Finis.

CASTORIA.

Be the Kind You Have Always Bought

Signature of Castor Fletcher

Learn how to listen and you will profit even from those who talk badly.

—Finis.

MARVELS OF MEMORY

SOME REMARKABLE INSTANCES OF THE POWER OF RECOLLECTION.

An Englishman Whose Wonderful Gift of Recitation Brought Drama to Voltaire—A Reporter Who Did Not Have to Take Notes.

Extraordinary memories have attracted the attention of men in all ages, and in these days a man with a retentive memory is considered to be more or less gifted.

Some good instances of remarkable memories are to be gathered from the records of Greece and Rome. Herodotus, a famous Greek general, is said to have known every citizen in Athens. No doubt Otto, the Roman emperor, owed much of his success to a remarkable memory. He learned the name of every soldier and officer in his army, and this among other things, rendered him so popular that he was at length acclaimed emperor.

Hortensius, the Roman orator, is said to have been able, after sitting a whole day at a public sale, to give an account from memory of all things sold, with the prices and names of the purchasers.

Coming to later times, the following anecdote affords an instance of wonderful powers of memory. An Englishman went to Frederick the Great of Prussia for the express purpose of giving him an exhibition of his powers of recollection. Voltaire was sent for Voltaire, who was then residing at the Prussian court. At the king's request Voltaire read a long poem which he had just composed. The Englishman was present and was in such a position that he could hear every word of the poem, though he was concealed from Voltaire's notice. After the reading of the poem Frederick observed to the author that the production could not be an original one, as there was a foreign gentleman present who could recite every word of it. Voltaire listened in amazement to the stranger as he repeated, word for word, the poem which he had been at so much pains in composing, and, giving way to a momentary outbreak of passion, he tore the manuscript in pieces. He was then informed how the Englishman had become acquainted with his poem, and his anger being appeased he was willing to penance by copying down the work from the second repetition of the stranger, who was able to go through it as before.

There lived in the sixteenth century at Padua a law student who had trained his memory to such a high degree of perfection that he could recite 36,000 words after once hearing them read.

Jedediah Buxton, an illiterate person of the eighteenth century, used to put his memory to a curious use. On one occasion he mentioned the quantity of ale he had drunk free of cost since he was twelve years old and the names of the gentlemen who had given it to him. The whole amounted to 5,110 pints.

As again showing that retentive gifts were not found in the educated alone, there is a notable instance of "Blind Jamie," who lived some years ago in Stirling. He was a poor, uneducated man and totally blind, yet he could continually repeat after a few minutes consideration any verse required from any part of the Bible, even the obscurest and least important.

The woman died poor. The manufacturer made a fortune. Now condensed milk is sold in every part of the world.—Louisville Herald.

DAGUERRE'S PROCESS.

The Way It Was Handled When It Reached This Country.

As soon as Daguerre's process became well enough known in America for practice scientific men and in fact "all sorts and conditions of men" attempted to produce the wonderful pictures. Many homemade and very primitive kinds of apparatus were employed in the experiments, including the cigar box with a spectacle lens. If the operator succeeded in producing an impression that could be seen, it was carried about and shown as a great success.

There were several claimants for the title of the man who first brought the process to America. They tried to make some of the condensed milk in the manner that she had told them, but failed. They followed her to New Orleans, and there she unwillingly unfolded her valuable secret. On the island of Guttenstein these men started a small factory, and there the first saleable condensed milk was made.

"In New York several claimants for the title of the man who first brought the process to America tried to make

DEATH

Young Mother
Last Night

South Lima,

was the Home of W. G. Biner.

musical Event Was the entertainment at the Grace Church.

ed Wedding and the Boys Busy.—Personal Mea-lions and Locals in Brief.

ne of W. G. Biner, 518 south street, has been made sad ath of the wife and young
rs. Hilda Biner, resultant birth. The husband and old daughter survive.

Largely Attended.

entertainment given un-spes of the Sunday school

Miss Ida Kieffer and Mrs.
Reitt, at Grace church, last

as well attended despite the weather and the many other entertainment in the city, were so fortunate as to be pronounce the affair a grand and give due credit to each.

Especial credit, and given the work of the visit-

other churches, who so ably

the bass solo by Marion

; violin solo by Miss Small-

al selections and quartette

unting sisters; readings by

Banta, and the piano duet

isself sisters. Mrs. Yates

lesque on "The Old Oaken

entitled "The New Church

which was well received

er offering was really better than expected, and the

ter which the entertainment wish to thank one and all taken.

Reported Wedding.

ning the report became cur-

Leonard Schriner and Mrs.

Kennedy, formerly Miss

I been married, and after

from the "show" were met

of "Indians" and given a

The report of the wedding

been verified.

Office Enlarged.

iness office at the Golley &

der works on south Main

is been remodeled and en-

the floor elevated about 14

it presents a neat, clean

ke appearance.

Briefs.

Hill Van Horn, of Findlay,

of Miss Cora Van Horn, of

avenue

Mrs. Wm. Lary, of south

have moved to Toledo,

has secured work in a car- or.

A Nunemaker of Forest ave-

turned from a visit to Day-

military sale at Mrs. Van

M. Curry, of south Main

Miss Naomi Breese, as a musical recital at the church, Tuesday evening

J. Councilman and daugh-

te guests of Mr. and Mrs.

Eliza, of south Elizabeth

route to their old home,

Y.

est Bissell, of west Circular

onvalescing from his recent remant sale at Mrs. Van

nism and family have re- in a visit with Kenton

R. A. Buchanan is at

Pa., called there by the

ness of her mother.

C. Weaver, of south Eliza-

has returned from Co-

ove, where she attended the ancement exercises.

sale on muslin at Mrs. Van rence Gerlach has returned

Sold by all

at $1.00 per

Our little

ling all about

ment, will be sent free.

aid Register Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Mother's Friend

to Kenton after a pleasant visit with Miss Grace Rien of south Pine street. Miss Lena Guenther, who has been a patient at the LaBine Sonatorium the past seven weeks, having undergone an operation for hernia, left today for her home, near Guyer, O.

NOTICE STELLA REBEKAHS.

The election of officers will be held June 17 instead of June 2, on account of the convention at Wapakoneta. Members expecting to go to the convention, will be at the station for the 1 o'clock car.

MRS. KATE NEFF, N. G.

GOVERNMENT STANDARD KHA-

KI CLOTH SUITS FOR BOYS, 4 TO

15 YEARS, $1.50. H. A. ALBRECHT.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

Clifton Springs, N. Y., June 2.—The first hour of today's session of the International Missionary Union was given up to memorial services for members who died during the last year. During that period, there have been fourteen deaths among the members of the union, and brief histories of their lives were given by those who had been personally associated with them in the foreign fields. The second hour was devoted to a devotional and praise service after which came the election of officers and organization of committees.

Chicago, June 2.—Abel Gabinski, under arrest as an anarchist plotter with designs against the lives of Mayor Harrison, Homer Palmer, and other notables was today declared by Police Inspector Shippy to be merely a half crazed junk dealer from St. Louis. The prisoner unkempt, undersized and apparently half witted, was given a searching examination by the inspector. As a result the inspector said Gabinski would be sent to the detention hospital for mental examination.

"He is probably a degenerate. I am satisfied that he was not sent by any society or order to kill the mayor or any one else. The fellow acts like idiot."

According to Inspector Shippy, the prisoner was born in Ilfordstone, London, and came to this country four years ago. Some scrawling, impossible to decipher, was found on the back of a letter, which is written in Yiddish. The letter is from the man's mother. The police today said the scrawling bears no resemblance to Mayor Harrington's name.

Bee's LAXATIVE Honey and Tar is different from all other cough syrups. It contains antiseptic properties to destroy the germs, solvent properties to cut the phlegm, and laxative properties to cleanse the system. Bee's LAXATIVE Honey and Tar is a pleasant, permanent cure for all coughs, colds, lung and bronchial affections. H. F. Vortkamp.

Gather the roses of health for your cheeks.

While the parks are shining with dew, Get out in the morning early and bright.

By taking Rocky Mountain Tea at night. H. F. Vortkamp.

SHUT DOWN CHARGED*TO THE LAKE TIE UP.

Chicago, June 2.—The Iroquois Furnace at South Chicago, has shut down throwing more than 600 men out of work. The closing of the plant is the direct result of the tie-up of the boats of the Lake Carriers' Association. The company manufactures pig iron and for some time has been unable to get any raw iron ore. As soon as the stock on hand was exhausted the plant was forced to shut down.

WARNING.

If you have kidney or bladder trouble and do not use Foley's Kidney Cure, you will have only yourself to blame for results as it positively cures all forms of kidney and bladder diseases.

A QUESTION OF LOCATION.

London, June 2—Earl Percy, under secretary of state for foreign affairs, replying to questions in the house of commons today, said that no representations had been made to Russia or Japan regarding placing naval mines in the far East outside of territorial limits. The subject, he added, was engaging the careful attention of the government. Asking if in view of the increased range of modern projectiles the government was prepared to recognize any extension of the three mile limit. Earl Percy answered in the negative.

COLUMBUS AND RETURN $1.00.

From Wapakoneta, next Sunday via Ohio Central Lines, may 21-22-oct-29

An Open Letter.

From the Chapin, S. C. News: Early in the spring my wife and I were taken with diarrhoea and so severe were the pains that we called a physician who prescribed for us but his medicines failed to give any relief. A friend who had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy on hand, gave each of us a dose and we at once felt the effects. I procured a bottle and before using the entire contents we were entirely cured. It is a wonderful remedy and should be found in every household. H. C. Bailey, Editor. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, Friend before baby comes, as this body for the strain upon it, and the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. We gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from this wonderful

Sold by all

at $1.00 per

Our little

ling all about

ment, will be sent free.

aid Register Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Mother's Friend

LOWER
Prices Prevail for Pig.

Iron Market
Gives Distinct Evidence That

Demand Will, During Summer, Shrink Into Narrower Channels.

Crop Prospects Show Improvement
According to Official Reports, and Supply of Money Abundant.

Cleveland, June 2.—Lower prices for pig iron and a number of finished products have come in the past week and the iron market gives distinct evidence of the shrinking of demand into narrower channels. There are signs of preparation for a quiet sum- mer in the banking or blowing out of a number of blast furnaces in the central west, the Chicago district and in Penn., though as yet the United States Steel corporation has not participated in this movement apart from the stopping of several stacks of the Illinois Steel Co. There is no lack of ore in the yards of the steel corporation at South Chicago, but other furnaces in that district may have to curtail further if the lake strike lasts many weeks longer. The great majority of consumers of pig iron have no contracts beyond the middle of the year, and ordinarily a brisk buying movement would be under way. But only in exceptional cases and these where large contracts have been undertaken by the foundries, as in the east iron pipe trade, are buyers in the market. General business conditions have not changed for the worse. Crop prospects show improvement, according to official reports of the week, and the supply of money is abundant.

Arthur J. M. Jephson, who was one of those who attended the funeral of Stanley, is the sole surviving officer of Stanley's "Darkest Africa," expedition for the relief of Emin Pasha in 1887. He was formerly a lieutenant in the Royal Irish Rifles, and at one time was a Queen's messenger His experiences have been extensive, and one of his most thrilling events was being held a prisoner by the Maids.

Reports from pig iron centers show that where any considerable business is incurred for new low prices com- monly for

THE TIMES-DEMOCRAT.

PUBLISHED BY
THE TIMES-DEMOCRAT
PUBLISHING COMPANY, 129 West High Street.

THE ONLY NEWSPAPER IN LIMA RECEIVING ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTS BY WIRE.

Telephones 84.

Entered at the Postoffice at Lima, O.
as Second Class Matter.

Member of Associated Press.

MEMBER OF ASSOCIATED PRESS
THE DAILY TIMES-DEMOCRAT IS ISSUED EVERY EVENING, EXCEPT SUNDAY, AND WILL BE DELIVERED BY CARRIERS AT ANY ADDRESS IN THE CITY AT THE RATE OF 16 CENTS PER WEEK.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY TIMES-DEMOCRAT
ISSUED TUESDAY AND FRIDAY, WILL BE MAILED TO ANY ADDRESS AT THE RATE OF $1 PER YEAR, PAYABLE IN ADVANCE.
THE SEMI-WEEKLY IS A SEVEN-COLUMN, EIGHT PAGE PAPER, THE LARGEST AND BEST NEWSPAPER IN ALLEN COUNTY.

PERSONS DESIRING THE TIMES-DEMOCRAT
DELIVERED TO THEIR HOMES MAY SECURE THE SAME BY POSTAL CARD ADDRESS, OR BY ORDER THROUGH TELEPHONE NO. 84.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.
DAILY EDITION, ONE YEAR.....$5.00
DAILY EDITION, SIX MONTHS.....$2.50
DAILY EDITION, THREE MONTHS.....$1.25
DAILY EDITION, ONE WEEK.....10
SEMI-WEEKLY EDITION, ONE YEAR.....$1.00

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY OF LIMA AND COUNTY OF ALLEN.

ANY SUBSCRIBER ORDERING THE ADDRESS OF THE PAPER CHANGED MUST ALWAYS GIVE THE FORMER AS WELL AS PRESENT ADDRESS.

WHEN DELIVERY IS IRREGULAR PLEASE MAKE IMMEDIATE COMPLAINT AT THE OFFICE.
ALL BUSINESS, NEWS, LETTERS OR TELEGRAPH
DISPATCHES MUST BE ADDRESSED:
THE TIMES-DEMOCRAT,
LIMA, OHIO.

THE STATE TICKET.

FOR SECRETARY OF STATE,
A. P. SANDLES,
PUTNAM COUNTY.

FOR JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT,
PHILIP J. RENNER, OF CINCINNATI.

FOR CLERK OF SUPREME COURT,
PERRY M. NEHAFFEY, OF CAMBRIDGE.

FOR DAIRY AND FOOD COMMISSIONER,
QUENTON H. GRAVETT, OF WOOSTER.

FOR MEMBER OF BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS
WM. H. FERGUSON,
OF SPRINGFIELD.

CONGRESSIONAL TICKET.
FOR MEMBER OF CONGRESS,
HARVEY C. BARBER,
OF GREENVILLE.

JUDICIAL TICKET.
FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE,
THIRD JUDICIAL DISTRICT.
W. H. KINDER,
OF FINDLAY.

FOR COMMON PLEAS JUDGE, FIRST SUB-DIVISION.
HUGH T. MATHERS, OF SIDNEY.

COUNTY TICKET.
FOR COMMISSIONER,
ALBERT HEFNER.

FOR INFIRMARY DIRECTOR,
W. E. GRUBBS.

WEATHER.

Washington, June 2.—For Ohio:
Cloudy unsettled weather tonight and Friday; warmer tonight.

THE HOUR OF NEED.

If the men engaged in all branches of business in this city could only realize that which is a fact, that over one million dollars are sent out of Lima every twelve months by consumers in the purchase of individual supplies, the organization and sustentation of a commercial body, called a board of trade or whatsoever you please, having for its purpose the building up of local industries and business enterprises would meet with unstinted support. The time is ripe, and the situation demands that everybody puts his shoulder to the wheel to avert a movement backward which is threatening this community. The press of the city, which accurately and early catches the drift of all public affairs, realizes the gravity of the situation, and is united on the proposition that something must be done, and that quickly and intelligently. Just how, has not been positively determined, but it will be shortly, as the result of consultation between gentlemen who constitute the remains of the old board of trade, a committee of business men from the Lima Club, and representatives from each paper published in Lima.

By concert of action, by a display in this time of need of that public spirit which in times past has characterized the people of Lima, the manufacturing output can be doubled annually, the bank deposits can be doubled, the number of men employed proportionately increased, the population made to grow, and all branches of mercantile trade correspondingly increased. To accomplish this result means work. It means that the man who has money must not sit down on it, but that he must join with the man of small means to bring about the desired end. It means there must be no North Lima, no South Lima.

It means we must all get together, and make the local broker, who says Lima has reached the apex of its glory so ashamed of himself he will

Constipation

Headache, biliousness, heartburn, indigestion, and all liverills are cured by

Hood's Pills

Sold by all druggists. 25 cents.

fall over his own feet in an effort to turn out his pockets to aid the organization which is to be formed to make Lima duplicate herself in a few short years.

In the face of adverse odds, the advancement is coming, and those who will lead in it sincerely hope they will not meet many of those things which inhabit every community and are called "short skates," but if they must be met, we express the prayer that the bulk of them will not be composed of men who have the means to help along Lima's advance to greatness, if they will but employ it along broad lines.

The car is moving. Get ready to get on board and receive your share of the praise that will come to those who are going to successfully help the city to turn a period of depression in to an era of growth and prosperity.

A TOUGH QUESTION.

A prominent railroad official when asked at his office in New York to tell what in his judgment were the reasons for the falling off in railroad business, answered:

"Depressed industrial conditions, curtailment of shipments of merchandise and labor troubles."

The railroader having given his reasons, it is now up to the republican press to set forth the causes which led up to these reasons. They cannot be charged to a democratic administration of national affairs for that has not existed for several years.

Perhaps continued increase in the cost to the consumer of the necessities of life because of trusts made possible by a high protective tariff has had something to do with bringing this condition about.

Perhaps all the country's interests have honestly come to believe that President Roosevelt will not be a safe man to follow for another four years.

THE MARKETS.

New York, June 2.—Only slight changes from last night's prices were made in the opening quotations in the stock market today, and the market was very dull. Some of the southern stocks which were very weak yesterday, made sharp fractional recoveries, Wabash rising  $\frac{1}{2}$  and St. Louis Southern preferred  $\frac{1}{2}$ .

Stocks fluctuated feverishly for a time within small fractional limits. St. Paul, Reading, Erie, the Pacific's and Brooklyn Transit improved while Amalgamated Copper, United States Steel and Penn. fell off. Near 11 o'clock, the movement upwards will have been adopted.

The weather man, the board of public service, and the republican party are engaged in a running contest to see which will have the most to be responsible to the people for.

Perhaps the laboring masses have come to the conclusion, after experience and figuring over results that the wonderful fruition promised them as the result of a high protective tariff is a campaign delusion and a snare, and that in place of having their wages advanced proportionately as living increased in expense, they have been more tools to enrich protected barons, while compelled to sell their labor in free trade market.

The million of employees who have been discharged since January first, are asking "questions" and reading about these matters, and it is going to be the most difficult task the republican party ever undertook in a national campaign to satisfactorily explain them to the voter.

POPULARITY AT HOME.

The best index to a man, as a man, in all phases of life, is the estimation in which he is held at home, and the man who is strong with his own people because of his honesty of purpose, irreproachable character, and recognized ability will be popular with the people of his country when brought before them as an applicant for their suffrage. Judge Parker, who is today the most prominent candidate for the democratic presidential nomination enjoys that enviable distinction in his home country, that of Ulster, New York. That his neighbors there trust in his integrity and uprightness is shown by the following election returns dating back to the early 80's. Ulster is a republican county.

The vote for the head of the ticket is as follows:

1894 Blaine, (Rep) majority ..... 59
1887 Grant, (Rep) majority ..... 362
1888 Harrison, (Rep) majority ..... 338
1891 Flower (Dem) majority ..... 1,095
1892 Cleveland, (Dem) majority ..... 358
1896 McKinley, (Rep) maj. .... 2,966
1897 Parker (Dem) majority ..... 1,447
1898 Roosevelt (Rep) majority ..... 1,504
1900 McKinley (Rep) majority ..... 1,985
1901 Odell, (Rep) majority ..... 1,613

That Judge Parker, democrat, could carry his own county, republican, by nearly 1500 majority, should be an assurance to his party that he is a clean and honorable man, and one of whom the people will not be ashamed if called by them to serve in a greater trust and higher capacity.

TWISTER FROM TWISTERSVILLE.

One editorial friend on the Republican-Gazette is a twister from Twistersville, and no town cyclone ever left anything in its path as badly distorted, as the mass of contradiction he can inject into his editorial column. There is neither time nor inclination to follow him in all his mental wanderings and false utterances to catch the voter coming and going, but once in a while when the contradictions are excessively ludicrous because of his incapable attempts at deception, it will be necessary to put the prod into him.

Five different times during the past days he has proclaimed Judge Parker as a candidate of Wall street, and on six other and distinct times he has announced that some other fellow than Parker, would be the democratic nominee because Parker was considered unfriendly to Standard Oil interests the National City Bank of New York and Wall street.

Having settled this question in his latest issue, by naming Judge Gray as Wall street's candidate, he turns his attention to the arraying of class against class by such campaign rot as this:

"And now the kid glove fellows are finding fault with Roosevelt because he shakes hands with the engineers and firemen of the locomotives that pull his trains over the country. These are the same fellows that can smell a mechanic through a foot thick wall. The world don't need such fellows and the workingmen and railway boys honor the president for his friendship for them, which is genuine."

From genuine pride in seeing that none of our editorial friends make themselves the laughing stock of the community, we implore Brother Campbell to cease such Tommy-rot. President Roosevelt, in shaking hands with firemen and engineers, did more than any other American citizen would have done under like circumstances. Then, too, Editor Campbell should give his party a fair show, and that he cannot do by feeding his readers on editorial chaff that changes from wheat to ragweed and vice versa, as the days come and go.

Mr. Campbell's return to editorial work in Lima was welcomed by his newspaper friends, and they all join in hoping that he will make good in his work by being honest in his opinions, and by awakening to the knowledge that the people of Ohio want the truth promulgated for them, no matter what the populace of Iowa wants, or has been given.

Perhaps the delay in making a republican nomination for governor in Illinois is because the boys want to wait until work of the Chicago convention is over, and then pick a man who can stand on the platform that will have been adopted.

The weather man, the board of public service, and the republican party are engaged in a running contest to see which will have the most to be responsible to the people for.

Perhaps all the country's interests have honestly come to believe that President Roosevelt will not be a safe man to follow for another four years.

Perhaps the laboring masses have come to the conclusion, after experience and figuring over results that the wonderful fruition promised them as the result of a high protective tariff is a campaign delusion and a snare, and that in place of having their wages advanced proportionately as living increased in expense, they have been more tools to enrich protected barons, while compelled to sell their labor in free trade market.

The million of employees who have been discharged since January first, are asking "questions" and reading about these matters, and it is going to be the most difficult task the republican party ever undertook in a national campaign to satisfactorily explain them to the voter.

Perhaps all the country's interests have honestly come to believe that President Roosevelt will not be a safe man to follow for another four years.

Perhaps the laboring masses have come to the conclusion, after experience and figuring over results that the wonderful fruition promised them as the result of a high protective tariff is a campaign delusion and a snare, and that in place of having their wages advanced proportionately as living increased in expense, they have been more tools to enrich protected barons, while compelled to sell their labor in free trade market.

The million of employees who have been discharged since January first, are asking "questions" and reading about these matters, and it is going to be the most difficult task the republican party ever undertook in a national campaign to satisfactorily explain them to the voter.

Perhaps all the country's interests have honestly come to believe that President Roosevelt will not be a safe man to follow for another four years.

Perhaps the laboring masses have come to the conclusion, after experience and figuring over results that the wonderful fruition promised them as the result of a high protective tariff is a campaign delusion and a snare, and that in place of having their wages advanced proportionately as living increased in expense, they have been more tools to enrich protected barons, while compelled to sell their labor in free trade market.

The million of employees who have been discharged since January first, are asking "questions" and reading about these matters, and it is going to be the most difficult task the republican party ever undertook in a national campaign to satisfactorily explain them to the voter.

Perhaps all the country's interests have honestly come to believe that President Roosevelt will not be a safe man to follow for another four years.

Perhaps the laboring masses have come to the conclusion, after experience and figuring over results that the wonderful fruition promised them as the result of a high protective tariff is a campaign delusion and a snare, and that in place of having their wages advanced proportionately as living increased in expense, they have been more tools to enrich protected barons, while compelled to sell their labor in free trade market.

The million of employees who have been discharged since January first, are asking "questions" and reading about these matters, and it is going to be the most difficult task the republican party ever undertook in a national campaign to satisfactorily explain them to the voter.

Perhaps all the country's interests have honestly come to believe that President Roosevelt will not be a safe man to follow for another four years.

Perhaps the laboring masses have come to the conclusion, after experience and figuring over results that the wonderful fruition promised them as the result of a high protective tariff is a campaign delusion and a snare, and that in place of having their wages advanced proportionately as living increased in expense, they have been more tools to enrich protected barons, while compelled to sell their labor in free trade market.

The million of employees who have been discharged since January first, are asking "questions" and reading about these matters, and it is going to be the most difficult task the republican party ever undertook in a national campaign to satisfactorily explain them to the voter.

Perhaps all the country's interests have honestly come to believe that President Roosevelt will not be a safe man to follow for another four years.

Perhaps the laboring masses have come to the conclusion, after experience and figuring over results that the wonderful fruition promised them as the result of a high protective tariff is a campaign delusion and a snare, and that in place of having their wages advanced proportionately as living increased in expense, they have been more tools to enrich protected barons, while compelled to sell their labor in free trade market.

The million of employees who have been discharged since January first, are asking "questions" and reading about these matters, and it is going to be the most difficult task the republican party ever undertook in a national campaign to satisfactorily explain them to the voter.

Perhaps all the country's interests have honestly come to believe that President Roosevelt will not be a safe man to follow for another four years.

Perhaps the laboring masses have come to the conclusion, after experience and figuring over results that the wonderful fruition promised them as the result of a high protective tariff is a campaign delusion and a snare, and that in place of having their wages advanced proportionately as living increased in expense, they have been more tools to enrich protected barons, while compelled to sell their labor in free trade market.

The million of employees who have been discharged since January first, are asking "questions" and reading about these matters, and it is going to be the most difficult task the republican party ever undertook in a national campaign to satisfactorily explain them to the voter.

Perhaps all the country's interests have honestly come to believe that President Roosevelt will not be a safe man to follow for another four years.

Perhaps the laboring masses have come to the conclusion, after experience and figuring over results that the wonderful fruition promised them as the result of a high protective tariff is a campaign delusion and a snare, and that in place of having their wages advanced proportionately as living increased in expense, they have been more tools to enrich protected barons, while compelled to sell their labor in free trade market.

The million of employees who have been discharged since January first, are asking "questions" and reading about these matters, and it is going to be the most difficult task the republican party ever undertook in a national campaign to satisfactorily explain them to the voter.

Perhaps all the country's interests have honestly come to believe that President Roosevelt will not be a safe man to follow for another four years.

Perhaps the laboring masses have come to the conclusion, after experience and figuring over results that the wonderful fruition promised them as the result of a high protective tariff is a campaign delusion and a snare, and that in place of having their wages advanced proportionately as living increased in expense, they have been more tools to enrich protected barons, while compelled to sell their labor in free trade market.

The million of employees who have been discharged since January first, are asking "questions" and reading about these matters, and it is going to be the most difficult task the republican party ever undertook in a national campaign to satisfactorily explain them to the voter.

Perhaps all the country's interests have honestly come to believe that President Roosevelt will not be a safe man to follow for another four years.

Perhaps the laboring masses have come to the conclusion, after experience and figuring over results that the wonderful fruition promised them as the result of a high protective tariff is a campaign delusion and a snare, and that in place of having their wages advanced proportionately as living increased in expense, they have been more tools to enrich protected barons, while compelled to sell their labor in free trade market.

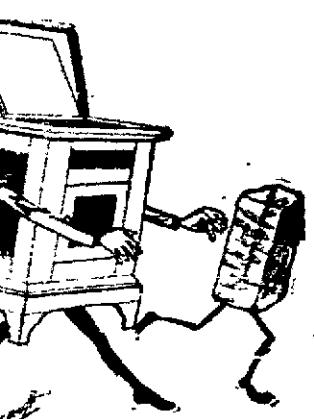

The million of employees who have been discharged since January first, are asking "questions" and reading about these matters, and it is going to be the most difficult task the republican party ever undertook in a national campaign to satisfactorily explain them to the voter.

Perhaps all the country's interests have honestly come to believe that President Roosevelt will not be a safe man to follow for another four years.

Perhaps the laboring masses have come to the conclusion, after experience and figuring over results that the wonderful fruition promised them as the result of a high protective tariff is a campaign delusion and a snare, and that in place of having their wages advanced proportionately as living increased in expense, they have been more tools to enrich protected barons, while compelled to sell their labor in free trade market.

The million of employees who have been discharged since January first, are asking "questions" and reading about these matters, and it is going to be the most difficult task the republican party ever undertook in a national campaign to satisf

TORE TALK OF THE FOREMOST STORE OF LIMA

We are making a complete display of the cork filled, North Star refrigerators. We have the zinc lined, enamel lined and porcelain lined.

The granulated cork is the best non-conductor of heat and cold known to science. The North Stars are the greatest ice savers. We have them from $7.50 to $50.00.

It will be a great pleasure to show you through.

The trading in our Matting Department has been very brisk. A few days ago we placed about forty patterns of 35c and 40c Mattings on sale at 25c a yard. Our customers have taken very kindly to this offer. If you have not made a purchase of these goods it will pay you to give us a call. Also the 12½, 15 and 18 cent Mattings we are offering at 10 cents.

The hot days of summer are at hand. Here is one of greatest conveniences in the house-wife's kitchen. Give them in the one, two and three hole size, ranging from $1.00 to $4.00 each. We also have a complete line of ovens.

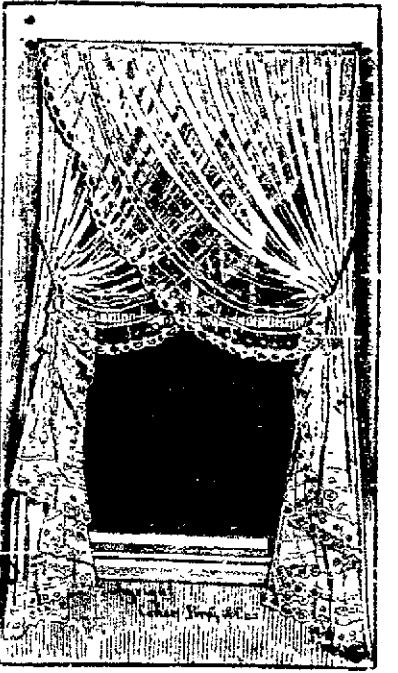

Expert Workmen in Our Cabinet Department.

We are showing a very comprehensive line of

China Closets.

A very useful and a very ornamental article for the dining room. We have very nice ones at $18, $20, $25, $28, $32 and up to $50. These together with a fine line of Buffets makes this stock popular with every neat and tidy housewife.

Our Lace Curtain Dep't.

has been making wonderful strides to stand foremost as a drapery department in Lima. The ruffled bobbinette that we are offering at $1.25, $1.50 and $2.00 are surprising values.

Ruffled swiss curtains at 69c, 85c, $1.00 and $1.25 are values that we challenge any other store to match. We also have the better curtains such as tambourines, Irish points, Brussels net, Gibsonians that are the very daintiest and laciest that the market affords.

Carpet Dep't.

This has been a very busy season in the foremost carpet department of Lima. Our stock of carpets and rugs have been beyond comparison. We purpose that trade in this department will continue very brisk. We have some very low and most excellent patterns of Tapestry, Velvets and Axminsters. We have Tapestries as low as 50 cents, Velvets as low as 98 cents and Axminsters as low as $1.00. These are the prices made, laid and lined.

Do not Overlook Our Carpet Department.

Summer Comforts for Porch and Lawn.

We have provided a good stock of lawn and porch chairs and seats. The "Old Hickory," red and green seats and benches and the rattan rockers, benches and tandem rockers. These range in price from 90 cents to $5.50. The assortment of these seats and rockers is the largest to be found in the city. We also make a large display of hammocks and porch curtains, porch carpets and it is a pleasure to show them.

Our Assortment of Davenports, Sofas, Rockers,

Parlor Chairs and Couches are such that every one is pleased. We are naming prices on these that make them within the reach of every purse, while the upholstring and workmanship are of such a grade that we do not hesitate to recommend.

THE NEWSON BOND CO. Largest Store in Lima.

All Goods Delivered Promptly.

STARS

the Mets Into Camp

and the Teams

Have a Victory to Their Credit.

Losing the First Game the Stars Piled Up Enough to Win the Series—Highs Were Made in Second Game, Bowlers Going Beyond the 200 Mark.

members of the Star bowling team revenge last night for the recently administered by the first contest was bowled on metropolitan alleys and the five turned a piece of the money at a tournament, were the game out of three. The fact that the Lima team had up a $50 forfeit for two weeks which Van Wert failed to cover, takes all of the starch out of the wild and reckless boasts, and that $500 which was dashed had a string tied to it as strong as the Atlantic cable.

Pabst vs. Stars.

The Pabst team took the alleys for two games against the Columbus Stars after the big contest was over and was defeated by the following scores:

Pabst:—

Maxwell	125	118
Bogart	163	153
Neer	134	168
Harmon	122	135
Iels	190	130
Totals	741	704

Stars.

Lush	222	180
Lawler	189	127
Brossler	147	183
Hausenstein	162	189
Reed	147	191
Totals	867	880

Bowled in Newell's place.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

ASKS

The Court for An Order

To Regulate

Pumping of Wells by Giant Oil Co.

Farmer Complains of Surface Shackle Rods and Lead Lines to Tanks,

And Asks That the Giant Oil Co Be Compelled to Put Them Underground.—Other Court Matter.

The Giant Oil Co., which was incorporated Jan. 7, 1904, is under a restraining order on application of John H. Miller, who has filed legal objection to the defendants operating shackle rods and pipe lines above the surface of his property. The defendant company owns a lease on 100 acres in Amanda township, on which there are several wells, and a shackle rod is run across the plaintiff's premises to a forty acre tract owned by Albin Brooks where there are three other wells in operation.

The plaintiff complains that the rods and lead lines are a hindrance to him in the operation of his farm, but although the company has frequently been asked to put them underground, it has not been done. On the hearing of the case the plaintiff asks that the injunction be made perpetual.

Wants Court's Decision.

Ernest T. Marshall has filed an interpleader, in which he names as the parties interested, H. A. Durnbaugh, W. K. Boone & Co., Penny & Penny, Chas. B. Daniels, Chas. M. Faust and Edward C. Linderman. The petition states that Mitchell made a contract with Durnbaugh, whereby the latter was to paint his house and barn for $155. Of that amount, $75 was paid, just before a final settlement. The plaintiff was directed by a justice of the peace to withhold the balance of $80 to meet a claim presented by W. K. Boone & Co. Since then, the other party defendants have filed claims aggregating $155, and Mitchell comes into court asking for instructions as to how the $80 he owes Durnbaugh is to be apportioned among the creditors in Probate Court.

An inventory of the estate of Moses Kelly has been filed by Michael H. Kelley, exec. of $1000 worth of personal property.

Kate Duggan, widow of the late Francis Duggan filed notification that she has elected to take under the will. Jury Not Needed.

The members of the petit jury were not fed by the county clerk today that their services would not be needed until Monday of next week. The case of John Mack vs the Toledo, St. ons & Western railroad, which was set for trial today, has been continued.

HURON

Of Findlay Will Be the Nominee.

He Has Consented to the Sacrifice, and Will Be an Unopposed Candidate.

The republicans of the third judicial circuit will hold their convention in Lima tomorrow and put up a lamb for the sacrifice. It has been settled that Silas Huron of Findlay, will be presented with the empty honor of a nomination, and he will hire for his running mate, his popular fellow townsman, W. H. Kinder, who was nominated with unanimous acclaim on the first ballot, at the democratic convention, held at the Faurot opera house in Lima, on the 3rd of May.

The convention will be held in the common pleas court room at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, and will be called to order by chairman J. W. Haifull. The republicans anticipate a very happy love feast, and the attendance of a large number of delegates from the sixteen counties, all of whom will be welcomed with Lima's warm hospitality, but it cannot help lack in enthusiasm, so far as results at the affair election is concerned, as any judicial convention in which the Allen county republicans are directly interested is but a forlorn hope.

WILL BOTHER HER NO MORE

Chicago June 2.—With a pistol, Frank Sessler, a rejected suitor has shot himself and Miss Estella Roney, daughter of the assistant superintendent of the South Chicago shipyards. The girl fell unconscious in the street. Sessler lurched around a corner and fired a bullet into his head, inflicting a fatal wound. Miss Roney will recover.

ALL EIGHT

National League Games Lined Up

To Renew the Battle for the Pennant, Today.

No Games Played in the National League Yesterday—Results of the Day in American League.

American League.

Boston 4, Cleveland 2.
Chicago 1, Washington 0.
St. Louis 3, Philadelphia 2.
New York 3, Detroit 3.

Games Today.

Washington at Chicago.
Philadelphia at St. Louis.
Boston at Cleveland.
New York at Detroit.

How They Stand.

Clubs	Won	Lost	P. C.
Boston	26	10	722
Cleveland	19	14	576
New York	20	15	571
Philadelphia	20	16	556
Chicago	20	17	511
St. Louis	16	18	467
Detroit	12	22	363
Washington	6	27	182

National League.

No games yesterday.

Games Today.

Cincinnati at New York.
St. Louis at Boston.
Chicago at Philadelphia.
Pittsburgh at Brooklyn.

How They Stand.

Clubs	Won	Lost	P. C.
New York	25	11	625
Chicago	24	11	614
Cincinnati	26	12	605
St. Louis	17	17	500
Pittsburgh	16	18	467
Brooklyn	16	23	395
Boston	13	22	371
Philadelphia	6	27	182

New York, June 2—National at Brooklyn—The Brooklyn Pittsburgh game was postponed today on account of rain.

CASE SEEMS STRONG.

Columbus, June 2.—General Warren Keifer succeeded in getting out minor charges in the 1st standing against the Springfield officers, before the National Guard court martial, annulled. This leaves the original specifications weakened only in a very small degree. The entire forenoon was occupied in Judge Advocate Voth's reply to Keifer's argument. The taking of evidence will begin at the decision this afternoon.

THE IDLER.

"A CLEAN PROPOSITION WORTH INVESTIGATING."

The Black Rock Gold and Copper Mining Co., have 20 claims comprising 400 acres in the United Verde Gold and Copper district of Yavapai county, Arizona, which they have been at work developing for the past two years, and are now ready to put up a smelter.

The Sentinel published at Rochester, Ind., from whence the aggregation came to Lima, writes of its visit there as follows:

"The Buckskin Bill Wild West show in Rochester, Saturday, proved to be one of the toughest aggregations that have been here in recent years, and before their train left town for Huntington, its members gave a few wild west tactics that were not on the program.

"The show has been playing in hard luck and is now in the hands of receivers for not settling their accounts with the big lithograph and printing houses Saturday night after the show the cowboys and Indians demanded their money, and there being an insufficiency in the treasury to settle the amount of the salaries, something had to be done to stop what promised to be a general bust-up, so Buckskin Bill took the cowboys and Indians to the various saloons and all boozed up in good style. They were very boisterous, but did no damage.

"It is said forty-two of the show were arrested and fined at Hammond, on Thursday, on various charges and that five are in jail at Crown Point, charged with the murder of a South Chicago man who was found dead in an oil tank."

The string and reed sections of the Eagle band and orchestra will go to St. Marys this evening to play for a school commencement. Tomorrow evening the same musicians will play for an alumni banquet in St. Marys.

The state board of appraisers and assessors announced today, at Columbus, that it had appointed Philip Walther, a member of this city's board for a period of five years. Wm. Stolzenbach, was chosen for a like period in Canton.

METEOROLOGY FOR MAY, 1904.

From records kept near Lima, highest temperature was on the 25th, 88°; lowest was on the 11th, 30° above. Average for the month, 60° being 5.2 below the daily average for May, 1903. Clear days 11, fair 12, cloudy 8. Days on which rain fell, 11. Amount of rain three and one-tenth (3.1) inches.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

Umbrellas and parasols repaired and recovered at the People's Outfitting company.

YOUNG AATHERLEY'S LUCK

By A. M. DAVIES OGDEN

The sun was warm and clear after the rain of the night before, and young Atherley, as his horse jogged easily along the road sang aloud to every song of lightness that out here in the trees and clouds. Low growled the train.

Over across the plain he could see the signs of a long eastbound train, the pony, also taking its place, received a gentle kick as it passed. Atherley was anxious to get his letter off. A few moments later he stopped up to the telegraph station and, dismounting, hung the wires to the ground.

The train was in, and Atherley hurried around the corner, then halted suddenly, dizzied by the vision which confronted him. On the lower steps of a car near the middle of the train stood a girl, her fair hair blowing in the wind, her hands full of pink roses, her eyes gazing straight into his. For a second neither moved. Then, as a voice from within called "Marion," the girl, with a quick flush, turned up the steps, and Atherley, stricken with the consciousness of his dusty "chaps," huge spurs and sombrero, slipped back. He had quite forgotten his letter. The engine gave a preliminary roar; the conductor yelled, "All aboard!" but

"My name," divided between indignation and mirth. "I am James Atherley," he declared rather pompously. But Atherley was clearly unimpressed.

"Better and better," he cried. "I always was a lucky devil!" joyously. The older man leaned back and stared at him.

"My dear young man," began he in his most formal manner, "I think we must misunderstand each other. I certainly wish to see where the luck comes in." Atherley, staring in his turn, became suddenly enlightened.

"Of course you mean that you don't know me," he cried. "Oh, that's all right," easily. "I've heard dad speak of you hundreds of times. I'm Billy Atherley, and I've just been out looking up some properties in the west."

The older man's brow cleared somewhat.

"Not William H. Atherley's son?" Atherley nodded.

"The same. So now won't you introduce me to your daughter?" wistfully. "It would save such a lot of time."

Abruthnot, his gray eyes twinkling, looked at the young fellow quizzically. "If you are much like your father, and I think you are, you would be hardly apt to wait long for my services," he remarked facetiously. "Come along, then. All I ask of you is please not to get married before we reach New York." The tone strove to be stern, but young Atherley laughed happily.

"I make no promises," he declared, with gay defiance. "Oh, here; hold on a moment," as a sudden recollection of his unmailed letter recurred to him. Pulling out the envelope, he tore it to fragments, letting the pieces float out of the open window.

"It was to say that I wasn't coming home," he explained. "I will telegraph from Chicago. Now, if you are ready."

The Pilot's Authority.

The first thing a sailor will tell you who has been to the Rio Plata, in South America, is about the pilots there.

Athrely still stood motionless, his eyes fixed on the car wherein she had disappeared. As the slow length of train began to move the girl slipped back to the platform for a moment, and on the ground, almost at Atherley's feet, fell a pink rose. To spring forward to seize the flower, then swing aboard the last car as it passed was to Atherley but the work of another moment. Before he had fairly realized it he was on the train and speeding eastward as fast as steam could carry him.

Practical thoughts forced a way, and his first act was to take account of stock.

"Jim will take the horse back," he reasoned. "It's all right. Luckily I have just about enough for my ticket to New York." Somehow he had decided that she lived in New York. "And as for meals—well, who knows what may turn up," with cheerful optimism.

At the next stop he sneaked forward to the smoking car and sat down to think things over. She was certainly a mighty pretty girl. Atherley, feeling for the rose hidden in his breast pocket, concluded that he would probably not regret his action.

"But I've got to get busy on the food question."

There were three or four other men in the car, the younger ones chattering together and another, rather older, reading in a corner. All eyed him curiously, and Atherley had an inspiration. If he worked them right, amused them, told them queer experiences, they might supply him with food, and as for cigars—well, he must buy those he had carefully. In pursuance of this idea he moved nearer, and one of the men looked up.

"Going east for your first trip?" he queried casually. Atherley laughed.

"Are my clothes so very unsuitable, then?" looking down at them doubtfully. The man laughed also.

"Well, they look as if you had started in a bit of a hurry," he remarked, and Atherley nodded.

"So did," he remarked confidentially. One of the other men yawned.

"This trip is deadly dull. Tell us about it," he suggested. Atherley, nothing loath, plunged into a farfetched tale of mirth, and soon had them all laughing. Even the older man in the corner looked interested, and when one by one the others drifted away he came over and seated himself by Atherley. The young fellow was to him quite a new type, and the man's amusement depended on his listening to Atherley's half boyish chatter. It was a long time since he had met any one so spontaneous and frank. And the lad, wherever he had picked it up, was evidently a gentleman.

"So you really just sampled on the train and came," he asked at length, "and for no other reason than that you wanted to see the world?" Atherley laughed rather shamefacedly.

"That's what I told those fellows."

But I don't mind telling you the truth. It was all on account of a girl," he said naively. The older man's lips twitched.

"A girl? How so?"

"I saw her on the car step," confesses

the older man, and I liked her, he added, and it's even to himself he dare not admit on the post. I would if you have seen her. He added apologetically. She had on some kind of a low-cut with a white waist and variegated roses. They called her 'Marion'."

The older man started.

"Marion," he exclaimed. "Why, that's my daughter," unthinkingly. Then he stopped, rather annoyed. A young man, no matter how charming and gentlemanly, was hardly a person to be presented to the carefully guarded Marion. But Atherley was too absorbed to notice the hesitation.

"Your daughter?" he cried. "Really, that's my daughter?" unthinkingly. Then he stopped, rather annoyed. A young man, no matter how charming and gentlemanly, was hardly a person to be presented to the carefully guarded Marion. But Atherley was too absorbed to notice the hesitation.

"My name," divided between indignation and mirth. "I am James Atherley," he declared rather pompously. But Atherley was clearly unimpressed.

"Better and better," he cried. "I always was a lucky devil!" joyously. The older man leaned back and stared at him.

"My dear young man," began he in his most formal manner, "I think we must misunderstand each other. I certainly wish to see where the luck comes in." Atherley, staring in his turn, became suddenly enlightened.

"Of course you mean that you don't know me," he cried. "Oh, that's all right," easily. "I've heard dad speak of you hundreds of times. I'm Billy Atherley, and I've just been out looking up some properties in the west."

The older man's brow cleared somewhat.

"Not William H. Atherley's son?" Atherley nodded.

"The same. So now won't you introduce me to your daughter?" wistfully. "It would save such a lot of time."

Abruthnot, his gray eyes twinkling, looked at the young fellow quizzically. "If you are much like your father, and I think you are, you would be hardly apt to wait long for my services," he remarked facetiously. "Come along, then. All I ask of you is please not to get married before we reach New York." The tone strove to be stern, but young Atherley laughed happily.

"I make no promises," he declared, with gay defiance. "Oh, here; hold on a moment," as a sudden recollection of his unmailed letter recurred to him. Pulling out the envelope, he tore it to fragments, letting the pieces float out of the open window.

"It was to say that I wasn't coming home," he explained. "I will telegraph from Chicago. Now, if you are ready."

The Pilot's Authority.

The first thing a sailor will tell you who has been to the Rio Plata, in South America, is about the pilots there.

Athrely still stood motionless, his eyes fixed on the car wherein she had disappeared. As the slow length of train began to move the girl slipped back to the platform for a moment, and on the ground, almost at Atherley's feet, fell a pink rose. To spring forward to seize the flower, then swing aboard the last car as it passed was to Atherley but the work of another moment. Before he had fairly realized it he was on the train and speeding eastward as fast as steam could carry him.

Practical thoughts forced a way, and his first act was to take account of stock.

"Jim will take the horse back," he reasoned. "It's all right. Luckily I have just about enough for my ticket to New York." Somehow he had decided that she lived in New York. "And as for meals—well, who knows what may turn up," with cheerful optimism.

At the next stop he sneaked forward to the smoking car and sat down to think things over. She was certainly a mighty pretty girl. Atherley, feeling for the rose hidden in his breast pocket, concluded that he would probably not regret his action.

"But I've got to get busy on the food question."

There were three or four other men in the car, the younger ones chattering together and another, rather older, reading in a corner. All eyed him curiously, and Atherley had an inspiration. If he worked them right, amused them, told them queer experiences, they might supply him with food, and as for cigars—well, he must buy those he had carefully. In pursuance of this idea he moved nearer, and one of the men looked up.

"Going east for your first trip?" he queried casually. Atherley laughed.

"Are my clothes so very unsuitable, then?" looking down at them doubtfully. The man laughed also.

"Well, they look as if you had started in a bit of a hurry," he remarked, and Atherley nodded.

"So did," he remarked confidentially. One of the other men yawned.

"This trip is deadly dull. Tell us about it," he suggested. Atherley, nothing loath, plunged into a farfetched tale of mirth, and soon had them all laughing. Even the older man in the corner looked interested, and when one by one the others drifted away he came over and seated himself by Atherley. The young fellow was to him quite a new type, and the man's amusement depended on his listening to Atherley's half boyish chatter. It was a long time since he had met any one so spontaneous and frank. And the lad, wherever he had picked it up, was evidently a gentleman.

"So you really just sampled on the train and came," he asked at length, "and for no other reason than that you wanted to see the world?" Atherley laughed rather shamefacedly.

"That's what I told those fellows."

But I don't mind telling you the truth. It was all on account of a girl," he said naively. The older man's lips twitched.

"A girl? How so?"

"I saw her on the car step," confesses

the older man, and I liked her, he added, and it's even to himself he dare not admit on the post. I would if you have seen her. He added apologetically. She had on some kind of a low-cut with a white waist and variegated roses. They called her 'Marion'."

The older man started.

"Marion," he exclaimed. "Why, that's my daughter," unthinkingly. Then he stopped, rather annoyed. A young man, no matter how charming and gentlemanly, was hardly a person to be presented to the carefully guarded Marion. But Atherley was too absorbed to notice the hesitation.

"Your daughter?" he cried. "Really, that's my daughter?" unthinkingly. Then he stopped, rather annoyed. A young man, no matter how charming and gentlemanly, was hardly a person to be presented to the carefully guarded Marion. But Atherley was too absorbed to notice the hesitation.

"My name," divided between indignation and mirth. "I am James Atherley," he declared rather pompously. But Atherley was clearly unimpressed.

"Better and better," he cried. "I always was a lucky devil!" joyously. The older man leaned back and stared at him.

"My dear young man," began he in his most formal manner, "I think we must misunderstand each other. I certainly wish to see where the luck comes in." Atherley, staring in his turn, became suddenly enlightened.

"Of course you mean that you don't know me," he cried. "Oh, that's all right," easily. "I've heard dad speak of you hundreds of times. I'm Billy Atherley, and I've just been out looking up some properties in the west."

The older man's brow cleared somewhat.

"Not William H. Atherley's son?" Atherley nodded.

"The same. So now won't you introduce me to your daughter?" wistfully. "It would save such a lot of time."

Abruthnot, his gray eyes twinkling, looked at the young fellow quizzically. "If you are much like your father, and I think you are, you would be hardly apt to wait long for my services," he remarked facetiously. "Come along, then. All I ask of you is please not to get married before we reach New York." The tone strove to be stern, but young Atherley laughed happily.

"I make no promises," he declared, with gay defiance. "Oh, here; hold on a moment," as a sudden recollection of his unmailed letter recurred to him. Pulling out the envelope, he tore it to fragments, letting the pieces float out of the open window.

"It was to say that I wasn't coming home," he explained. "I will telegraph from Chicago. Now, if you are ready."

The Pilot's Authority.

The first thing a sailor will tell you who has been to the Rio Plata, in South America, is about the pilots there.

Athrely still stood motionless, his eyes fixed on the car wherein she had disappeared. As the slow length of train began to move the girl slipped back to the platform for a moment, and on the ground, almost at Atherley's feet, fell a pink rose. To spring forward to seize the flower, then swing aboard the last car as it passed was to Atherley but the work of another moment. Before he had fairly realized it he was on the train and speeding eastward as fast as steam could carry him.

Practical thoughts forced a way, and his first act was to take account of stock.

"Jim will take the horse back," he reasoned. "It's all right. Luckily I have just about enough for my ticket to New York." Somehow he had decided that she lived in New York. "And as for meals—well, who knows what may turn up," with cheerful optimism.

At the next stop he sneaked forward to the smoking car and sat down to think things over. She was certainly a mighty pretty girl. Atherley, feeling for the rose hidden in his breast pocket, concluded that he would probably not regret his action.

"But I've got to get busy on the food question."

There were three or four other men in the car, the younger ones chattering together and another, rather older, reading in a corner. All eyed him curiously, and Atherley had an inspiration. If he worked them right, amused them, told them queer experiences, they might supply him with food, and as for cigars—well, he must buy those he had carefully. In pursuance of this idea he moved nearer, and one of the men looked up.

"Going east for your first trip?" he queried casually. Atherley laughed.

"Are my clothes so very unsuitable, then?" looking down at them doubtfully. The man laughed also.

"Well, they look as if you had started in a bit of a hurry," he remarked, and Atherley nodded.

"So did," he remarked confidentially. One of the other men yawned.

"This trip is deadly dull. Tell us about it," he suggested. Atherley, nothing loath, plunged into a farfetched tale of mirth, and soon had them all laughing. Even the older man in the corner looked interested, and when one by one the others drifted away he came over and seated himself by Atherley. The young fellow was to him quite a new type, and the man's amusement depended on his listening to Atherley's half boyish chatter. It was a long time since he had met any one so spontaneous and frank. And the lad, wherever he had picked it up, was evidently a gentleman.

"So you really just sampled on the train and came," he asked at length, "and for no other reason than that you wanted to see the world?" Atherley laughed rather shamefacedly.

"That's what I told those fellows."

But I don't mind telling you the truth. It was all on account of a girl," he said naively. The older man's lips twitched.

"A girl? How so?"

"I saw her on the car step," confesses

the older man, and I liked her, he added, and it's even to himself he dare not admit on the post. I would if you have seen her. He added apologetically. She had on some kind of a low-cut with a white waist and variegated roses. They called her 'Marion'."

The older man started.

"Marion," he exclaimed. "Why, that's my daughter," unthinkingly. Then he stopped, rather annoyed. A young man, no matter how charming and gentlemanly, was hardly a person to be presented to the carefully guarded Marion. But Atherley was too absorbed to notice the hesitation.

"Your daughter?" he cried. "Really, that's my daughter?" unthinkingly. Then he stopped, rather annoyed. A young man, no matter how charming and gentlemanly, was hardly a person to be presented to the carefully guarded Marion. But Atherley was too absorbed to notice the hesitation.

"My name," divided between indignation and mirth. "I am James Atherley," he declared rather pompously. But Atherley was clearly unimpressed.

"Better and better," he cried. "I always was a lucky devil!" joyously. The older man leaned back and stared at him.

"My dear young man," began he in his most formal manner, "I think we must misunderstand each other. I certainly wish to see where the luck comes in." Atherley, staring in his turn, became suddenly enlightened.

"Of course you mean that you don't know me," he cried. "Oh, that's all right," easily. "I've heard dad speak of you hundreds of times. I'm Billy Atherley, and I've just been out looking up some properties in the west."

PERLY'S ST
by F. B. WRIGHT
1860, by F. B. Wright

telling ghost stories in the clubhouse, and I sat in one whereof a refuge in an old house had felt the presence of draped figures moving and graves give up their dead." Shakespeare called it a "witching hour," but I wager he's don't think so now—unless he's got hold of something good in the haunting line. It's the biggest piece of foolishness I know of," he burst out impatiently. "Just take my case. Sixty years ago I was a decent, respectable merchant; brought up to his early and go to bed early. After I had my supper I read the paper and then locked up, put on my nightcap and slept. And yet here am I, by gravy, obliged to get out of a comfortable grave at the dead of night and sit around until an infernal rooster crows in the dairy around the corner. I'm getting sick and tired of it, I can tell you. I might get a dozen here in awhile if it were not for that damned club yonder!" He pointed to a large family vault as he spoke.

"I know," commented "that ghosts are always awful. They are never chatty and familiar except as he cocked his legs: "That's all you know, ghosts generally because the highly colored story who run away before get acquainted with the like are not such fools as I know what I am talking one last March, and and stout and sensible as you remember when Bauburn

last spring? Of course I is goodby dinner. I was then—Bathurst-in-

Jonesville. It was after the owl trail from considerably later when I

main street.

short cut to my house

church and a graveyard, especially care for grave-

night—not afraid, you are sort of ghoulish

and I wouldn't have taken

I was in a hurry to get over, the place seemed enough. The grave-

out white in the moon-saw until I reached the Near that is an old stone slab on four corners.

"Unless you have an hereditary

ghostship or a term of years," he re-

piled. "We used to have some conditional limitation ghosts, but they've

dropped off. Ghostships limited to end

on the happening of some condition,

such as finding buried money or bone

of one's bones in consecrated ground or the like."

"Just then, way off somewhere, a cool

began to crow, and as true as I am sitting

here on this veranda that old boy

gave me a start, and his tone was so

sorrowful that even I could hardly keep

from weeping. It seemed a sad and

lonely thing."

"I hated to bother him in his sorrow,

but I really wanted to know, so I asked

him if he was compelled to haunt only

relatives."

"Unless you have an hereditary

ghostship or a term of years," he re-

piled. "We used to have some conditional limitation ghosts, but they've

dropped off. Ghostships limited to end

on the happening of some condition,

such as finding buried money or bone

of one's bones in consecrated ground or the like."

"Just then, way off somewhere, a cool

began to crow, and as true as I am sitting

here on this veranda that old boy

gave me a start, and his tone was so

sorrowful that even I could hardly keep

from weeping. It seemed a sad and

lonely thing."

"I hated to bother him in his sorrow,

but I really wanted to know, so I asked

him if he was compelled to haunt only

relatives."

"Unless you have an hereditary

ghostship or a term of years," he re-

piled. "We used to have some conditional limitation ghosts, but they've

dropped off. Ghostships limited to end

on the happening of some condition,

such as finding buried money or bone

of one's bones in consecrated ground or the like."

"Just then, way off somewhere, a cool

began to crow, and as true as I am sitting

here on this veranda that old boy

gave me a start, and his tone was so

sorrowful that even I could hardly keep

from weeping. It seemed a sad and

lonely thing."

"I hated to bother him in his sorrow,

but I really wanted to know, so I asked

him if he was compelled to haunt only

relatives."

"Unless you have an hereditary

ghostship or a term of years," he re-

piled. "We used to have some conditional limitation ghosts, but they've

dropped off. Ghostships limited to end

on the happening of some condition,

such as finding buried money or bone

of one's bones in consecrated ground or the like."

"Just then, way off somewhere, a cool

began to crow, and as true as I am sitting

here on this veranda that old boy

gave me a start, and his tone was so

sorrowful that even I could hardly keep

from weeping. It seemed a sad and

lonely thing."

"I hated to bother him in his sorrow,

but I really wanted to know, so I asked

him if he was compelled to haunt only

relatives."

"Unless you have an hereditary

ghostship or a term of years," he re-

piled. "We used to have some conditional limitation ghosts, but they've

dropped off. Ghostships limited to end

on the happening of some condition,

such as finding buried money or bone

of one's bones in consecrated ground or the like."

"Just then, way off somewhere, a cool

began to crow, and as true as I am sitting

here on this veranda that old boy

gave me a start, and his tone was so

sorrowful that even I could hardly keep

from weeping. It seemed a sad and

lonely thing."

"I hated to bother him in his sorrow,

but I really wanted to know, so I asked

him if he was compelled to haunt only

relatives."

"Unless you have an hereditary

ghostship or a term of years," he re-

piled. "We used to have some conditional limitation ghosts, but they've

dropped off. Ghostships limited to end

on the happening of some condition,

such as finding buried money or bone

of one's bones in consecrated ground or the like."

"Just then, way off somewhere, a cool

began to crow, and as true as I am sitting

here on this veranda that old boy

gave me a start, and his tone was so

sorrowful that even I could hardly keep

from weeping. It seemed a sad and

lonely thing."

"I hated to bother him in his sorrow,

but I really wanted to know, so I asked

him if he was compelled to haunt only

relatives."

"Unless you have an hereditary

ghostship or a term of years," he re-

piled. "We used to have some conditional limitation ghosts, but they've

dropped off. Ghostships limited to end

on the happening of some condition,

such as finding buried money or bone

of one's bones in consecrated ground or the like."

"Just then, way off somewhere, a cool

began to crow, and as true as I am sitting

here on this veranda that old boy

gave me a start, and his tone was so

sorrowful that even I could hardly keep

from weeping. It seemed a sad and

lonely thing."

"I hated to bother him in his sorrow,

but I really wanted to know, so I asked

him if he was compelled to haunt only

relatives."

"Unless you have an hereditary

ghostship or a term of years," he re-

piled. "We used to have some conditional limitation ghosts, but they've

dropped off. Ghostships limited to end

on the happening of some condition,

such as finding buried money or bone

of one's bones in consecrated ground or the like."

"Just then, way off somewhere, a cool

began to crow, and as true as I am sitting

here on this veranda that old boy

gave me a start, and his tone was so

sorrowful that even I could hardly keep

from weeping. It seemed a sad and

lonely thing."

"I hated to bother him in his sorrow,

but I really wanted to know, so I asked

him if he was compelled to haunt only

relatives."

FOUR

Youth Were Turned Adrift
And the Police
Will Assist Them in Getting Home.

Man Who Buncoed Driver Goes to Toledo Work House.

Three Prisoners Fined for Drunkenness and Three Cases Are Passed for Further Investigation.

George McGregor, of Montreal, Canada, William Brabber, of Bay City, Mich., and Walter Bemis and Charles Forbes of Detroit, are the names given by four boys of ages ranging from 14 to 17 years, who were taken into custody by the police last night, after they had been turned adrift from the Buckskin Bill circus. They will be taken as far northward as Toledo by Chief Mills and will be sent on to Detroit from that city.

The boys joined the Buckskin show in South Chicago and claim they have been unable to collect any salary until yesterday, when one of their number secured $8 from the paymaster. They claim that they were all discharged here and when they board ed the circus train to go to Marion, where they intended to attach some of the outfit they were put off.

Goes to the Works. Walter Shively a stranger who approached aged Peter Diver on the street yesterday and bruced him out of 50 cents by pretending to live on a neighboring farm in Jackson township, was arraigned on a charge of drunkenness this morning. He was fined $10 and costs and sentenced to 10 days imprisonment in the Toledo work house. Chief Mills will take him to Toledo this evening.

Other Cases. Harry Jameson and Harry Reed, strangers, and John Wooley, a local offender, were fined $1.60 each this morning on charges of drunkenness. The cases against three young men who were charged with breaking a wagon at Fred Harrison's saloon were passed for further investigation Harrison declaring to prosecute the defendants because they had paid for the damage done.

JUNE WEDDING

Was the Social Event in Marion Yesterday.

March Cunningham Wins a Handsome Bride, a Granddaughter of Former Lima Man.

An unusually pretty June wedding was that which was solemnized at Marion, yes erday, between Mr. Theodore Marshall Cunningham and Miss Miriam DeWolfe. The ceremony was performed at three o'clock, in the Presbyterian church Rev Lorung C Webster, a former pastor of Trinity M. E. church, grand father of the bride, officiated. The groom's attendants were Mr. F. E. Baxter of Lima; and Mr. L. H. Cunningham, of Findlay.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the many friends of the bride and groom showered upon them hearty congratulations. Mr. Cunningham and his fair bride left for St. Louis at 7 o'clock, and will return to Marion in two weeks, where they will be at home to their friends in a pretty home which the groom has in readiness.

PERSONAL MENTION

Herbert Cook and "Sport" Singleton, returned yesterday from a most delightful trip from the former's home at Waynesfield and among some of the curiosities which met their gaze were seven "wild wolves." Mr. Cook also reminded Singleton of his last working days on the farm.

Mrs. W. C. Doubleday, of Columbus, visiting her sister, Mrs. S. Daisell, of west Market street.

Rev. Lord will lead at the Jefferson-street Mission, Friday evening at 7:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Burns, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Schaefer and sons Roy and Willie, spent Decoration Day at the Soldiers Home, in Dayton, O.

Mrs. Sweeney, of 864 west Wayne street, was removed in Bennett's ambulance, from the hospital to her home last evening.

THE LATEST THING OUT IN NECKWEAR IS RADIUM. H. A. ALBRECHT, AMERICAN CLOTHIER.

FELDMANN & CO.

Gifts . . .*To Graduates.

Many of our department's will easily solve the problem as to what to buy for the young lady or young man graduate. Ours are goods of quality, well adapted for gifts, easily bought because not highly priced.

Pretty Fans	Dainty Ribbons	Shaving Mirrors
Wrist Bags	Neckwear Novelties	Men's Hd'ys
Pocket Books	Fancy Hosiery	Fine Silk Socks
Bead Chains	Kid Gloves	Lace Lisle Socks
Jewelry Novelties	Silk Gloves & Mitts	Fancy Socks
Back Combs	Lace Gloves	Men's Kid Gloves
Side Combs	Choice Handker'fs	Men's Umbrellas
Comb and Brush Sets	Colored Umbrellas	Men's Night Robes
Hand Mirrors	Fancy Aprons	Men's Toilet Sets

Feldmann & Co.

209-211 N. Main St.

Headquarters for Hosiery, Underwear and Gloves.

Headquarters for Laces, Ribbons and Trimmings.

Headquarters for Infants' Wear.

STRONG

Committee of Citizens Selected to Go

To Columbus to Urge Appointment of Lima Man

On Commission to Select Location for New State Asylum. Meeting Tonight to Arrange Preliminaries.

The committee, appointed at a meeting of the Lima Club members to properly look after the interests of the city in its contest for the location here of the new state hospital, met in Lima club parlors last night, for the purpose of choosing some gentleman from Lima who is admirably qualified for a place on the commission to be appointed by the governor. The committee, after canvassing various names suggested finally decided on four Hon W. B. Richie, C. F. Stolzenbach, Dr. S. A. Baxter and T. J. Morris. The name of Mr. Richie will be presented first, and that every effort possible be made to secure his appointment, a committee consisting of T. J. Edwards, J. W. Haffhill, T. E. Thompson, C. F. Stolzenbach, A. C. Reichelderfer, Dr. G. Hall, Fred Becker, Geo Quall, H. D. Campbell, Mayor T. D. Robt, J. R. Flinn, Geo. Newson, F. A. Holland, R. L. Bates, J. D. S. Neely, A. L. White, J. A. Bendire, J. P. King, U. M. Sharp, W. R. McHaffey and W. F. Numen, was appointed to go to Columbus to urge his appointment upon the governor. Should that fail the other gentlemen named will be presented in order. This citizens committee is requested to meet at the Lima Club this evening at 7:30 to make the necessary preparations for the Columbus visit.

AMERICAN WON.

London, June 2.—In the fifth round of the amateur golf championship contest at Sandemic, today, Walter J. Travis, the American champion, beat H. H. Hilton, the former British champion, by five up and four to play, thus reaching the semi-final.

Rev. Lord will lead at the Jefferson-street Mission, Friday evening at 7:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Burns, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Schaefer and sons Roy and Willie, spent Decoration Day at the Soldiers Home, in Dayton, O.

Mrs. Sweeney, of 864 west Wayne street, was removed in Bennett's ambulance, from the hospital to her home last evening.

Between Police and Firemen*Is Postponed*On Account of Condition of Grounds.*Contest Now Scheduled to Occur Next Tuesday Afternoon.*Court House Team Anxious to Play

Newspaper Men, Lawyers,

Doctors or Any Amateur Team.

The base ball game that was to have been played between the police and fire department of the city on the Wheeler park grounds this afternoon, has been postponed to next Tuesday. The day was a fine one for the contest but the members of the two departments were of the opinion that the grounds would still be too soft for the fast work that the bobbles and fire laddies expect to execute when the game is on.

Everybody Challenged.

The members of the court house team are aching for a game. They have been doing considerable practicing and consider themselves fast enough to beat any team in the city aside from the Lima and Arcade organizations. They want a game with the newspaper men, lawyers, doctors, bankers, or most any old team—first come, first served.

Games Booked. The Arcades will probably book the Tipp City team for a game here next Sunday. If they do not, the Lima team will book them for a game on the next Sunday. Collina is booked with the Lima team. The Decatur team is to play at Wheeler park on Sunday, June 19, and the Dayton Nationals on Sunday, June 26.

The Dayton Nationals defeated the Lima Giants at Dayton last Sunday by a score of 2 to 0.

Harry Smith, a former star of the old city league, has been signed with the Lima team and will probably play in next Saturday's game.

LIMA CHAPTER NO 49, R. A. M.

Stated convocation tomorrow (Friday) evening. Work on Royal Arch Degree.

H. C. SEIBERS, H. P. WALLACE LANDIS, Secy.

RADIUM SILK NECKTIES COST

NO MORE THAN YOU PAY FOR

THE "HAS BEENS". H. A. ALBRECHT, LIMA HOUSE CORNER.

DEATH

Came Suddenly to John D. Foye.

Passed Away

At Three O'clock This Afternoon

While Sitting in a Chair at His Home on North Pierce Street.

Bright's Disease of Long Standing Was Cause of Death—Daughter Was at His Side When the End Came.

John D. Foye, the well known veteran real estate agent, died very suddenly at his home, corner of High and Pierce streets, at 3 o'clock this afternoon, death occurring before the attending physician, who was summoned as soon as the aged man was seized with a fatal sinking spell, reached the home. The deceased's daughter, Mrs Emma Bitzer, was at his side when the end came.

Mr. Foye had been a sufferer from Bright's disease for some time but during the last few days had seemed considerably improved, until this morning, when he remarked that he was feeling worse. He was sitting in a chair when a sinking spell suddenly seized him and death ensued within a few minutes.

Mr. Foye was an old resident of Lima and was widely known. As a business man and as a citizen he was straightforward and commanded the esteem and respect of all who knew him. He was about 75 years of age and remained quite active, considering his age, until within the last year. His daughter, Mrs. Bitzer, widow of C. Bitzer, is the only survivor of the deceased's family.

GAME*DOW TAX

Must Be Paid Not Later Than June 5th.

It is a point that may have been overlooked that the Dow tax this year must be paid on or before the 5th of June, and those who expect to continue in the business of liquor selling, will have to act accordingly. Under the new law the extension of time which gave the liquor dealers until the 20th of June, has been cut off and payment must be entered by the county treasurer on the date above mentioned.

DRIGGS IS MADE A MEMBER OF LUNGER BOARD.

Columbus, O., June 2.—Governor Herrick, before leaving today, for Lorain county, announced the appointment of Judge John B. Driggs, of Bridgeport, to be the democratic member of the tuberculous hospital board. Upon the commission fixed by the late Governor Erick, Attorney General Elhs, Auditor Gilbert, and Secretary Probst, of the state board of health.

WITHOUT RESULT.

Los Angeles, June 2.—The fight in the convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for the election for the office of third assistant grand chief engineer has narrowed down to Peter Kidluff of Blue Island, Illinois, and Herman E. Wills, of Clayton, Iowa. Repeated ballots have been taken without result.

BULLETIN.

Terre Haute, June 2.—Twelve hundred miners suspended work today to assist in the search for the four year old son of Dr. Byers, who has been missing from home since Sunday. Ponds and abandoned mines are being searched, and gypsy camps examined.

PENROSE SUCCEEDS QUAY.

Washington, June 2.—Postmaster General Payne, acting chairman of the republican national committee has appointed United States Senator Boies Penrose as the Pennsylvania member of the National committee to succeed the late Senator Quay.

A REAL MEAN COUSIN.

Anderson, Ind., June 2.—Mrs Ada Barger, a widow, aged 31, who was slashed with a razor across the forehead, right cheek and shoulder by her cousin, James McCormick, attributes the attack to jealousy. She will recover.

NOTICE.

R. O. S. Golden Gate Rebeccas will have a call meeting in their hall this evening at 7:30 for the purpose of making arrangements to attend the funeral of Sister Biner. By order of NOBLE GRAND

G. E. BLUEN.

CENTRAL BUILDING.

G. E. BLUEN.

THE WASH GOODS.

Almost endless in their variety and colorings. Some of them costing but little more than common calico. You should choose while the assortments are large; there's pleasure and profit in it.

It pays to trade at Bluem's new store.

Cool Wash Goods for June.

Milcorde dimities 29 inches wide, beautiful styles, at 5c.

Almeria Batiste same width, in a big range of styles, at 5c.

Choice Batiste with satin stripes, in neat styles, at 10c.

A better quality in satin stripes, also plain colorings, 12½c.

Ormonde Batiste Serge designs, beautiful quality, 15c.

Batiste and Swiss designs in stripes and figures, at 18c.

Fine Organdies in large patterns at 25c per yard.

Silk Mousseline with satin stripes, at 40c to 75c per yard.

Kora Ducks for shirt waist suits at 12½c per yard.

Bourette noveate, for shirt waist suits at 12½c per yard.

Some Beautiful White Goods.

There'll be lots of white goods sold this season. Don't you think it pays to buy your white goods when the stock is new and particularly when the prices are so very tempting?

India Linons at 10, 12½, 15 and 18c. Checked and striped dimities 10 to 25c. Sheer Mulls, 48 inch, at 40 and 50c. Persian Lawns at 20, 25 and 30c. Embroidered and dotted Swiss.

A Sale of Summer Bed Spreads.

Going to sell several lots of Bed Spreads very cheap. Never mind why, so long as the bargains are yours.

Berlin White Quilt, hemmed, full size, ready for use at $1.00.

Hanover White Quilt, extra size, special for $1.19.

Satin Quilt, handsome patterns, extra size, at $2.50.

G. E. BLUEN.*G. E. BLUEN.*Dry Goods, Suit House.

CENTRAL BUILDING,

221-223 North Main Street.

MOTHER*Of an Infant Child Claimed by Death's Hand.